

Marlon Bundo™ On the Coronavirus

Written by Charlotte Pence Bond

Illustrated by Karen Pence

There is something we cannot see
That we all have to fight now.
It's time to defend our country
But I want to know - how?

At first, I was a little bit scared
Because there is so much unknown
But I learned how to be prepared
To fight this virus in my home

It turns out there are lots of ways
You can help, too!
By just staying home most of these days
And using the drive-thru.

First, we have three rules to follow:

- Try not to touch your face.
- If you have to cough, use your elbow.
- Give your neighbor lots of space.

Wash your hands for twenty seconds
Because there are people more at risk
Like all our friends and grandparents
Who we really don't want to get sick.

I do the things that make me happy
Like hopping and twitching my nose.
When I play with Hazel and Harley,
I make sure not to stand too close!

